Take action now to support afterschool

President Trump has just unveiled his budget priorities—and his plan singles out afterschool funding for elimination.

Please take two minutes right now to tell your representatives in Congress to stand up for America's children, families, and afterschool options.

Congress is getting ready to determine whether local afterschool and summer learning programs remain open, reduce their services or close their doors. If the 21st Century Community Learning Centers initiative is eliminated, many programs will not survive. More than a million children will be affected, leaving parents without reliable afterschool choices.

The battle has just begun. With your help, it's still possible to persuade Congress to protect afterschool choices. Take action now.

Email your representatives now
